

HISTORIOGRAPHY: EUROPE SINCE 1600

- Week I (January 22)
Introduction to the Course
- Week II (January 29)
Methodology: Demography and The Annales School
Emmanuel Le Roy Ladurie, The Peasants of Languedoc
- Week III (February 5)
Controversy: The English Revolution: Debate over Causation
Lawrence Stone, The Origins of the English Revolution
Norah Carlin, The Origins of the English Civil War
- Week IV (February 12)
Methodology: Ideas in History: Elitism and Sociology
John Gagliardo, Enlightened Despotism
Robert Darnton, The Literary Underground of the Old Regime
- Week V (February 19)
Controversy: The French Revolution: Debate over Causation
Georges Lefebvre, The Coming of the French Revolution
Bailey Stone, Reinterpreting the French Revolution
- Week VI (February 26)
Methodology: Marxism and Economic History
Robert C. Tucker, ed., The Marx-Engels Reader, Introduction;
pp. 146-200; 469-500; 586-652
- Week VII (March 5)
Controversy: The Causes of World War I
L. C. F. Turner, The Origins of the First World War
Holger H. Herwig, ed., The Outbreak of World War I
- Week VIII (March 19)
Methodology: Women in History and Historiography
Joan W. Scott, Gender and the Politics of History
- Week IX (March 26)
Controversy: The Russian Revolution: Causes and Process
R. Suny and A. Adams, eds., The Russian Revolution and the Bolshevik Victory
- Week X (April 2)
Methodology: Psychohistory and the "New Social History"
Peter Loewenberg, Decoding the Past
Gertrude Himmelfarb, "Denigrating the Rule of Reason: The
'New History' Goes Bottom-Up"

Week XI (April 9)

Controversy: The Causes of World War II

Keith Eubank, ed., World War II: Roots and Causes

ALL PAPERS DUE on Friday, May 4 (2 p.m., CDT)